Statement of Work

Title

Development of Visual Resources: Budgeting and Operational Costs

Introduction

There are currently over 60,000 Inuit in Canada. They are the fastest growing population in Canada, with 51 Inuit communities across the Arctic and almost 30% of Inuit living in urban centres.

Inuit in Canada consistently experience lower economic participation levels than the national average. In 2012, the national average unemployment rate was approximately 7.3%, while for Inuit the average was more than double at 16%. The unemployment rate for Inuit women in 2012 across Inuit Nunangat was 16.2%, compared with a rate of 23.5% for Inuit men, while Inuit women are more likely to be employed or self-employed. The labour market reflects a participation rate of 60% for Inuit women in Inuit Nunangat. In order to develop programs and services targeted to support Inuit women, a greater understanding of gendered needs, challenges and gaps across the Inuit Nunangat is required.

Goals of the Project

This project will further develop existing operations and resources of the Inuit Women in Business Network (IWBN), to be available in both languages, English and Inuktitut, and made available across Inuit Nunangat and the rest of Canada. The project will also provide strategic direction on the organization's broad economic development activities directly from Inuit women. This approach will facilitate the sharing best practices and identify pertinent economic development priorities as they relate to Inuit women, while developing corresponding strategies.

The project activities will sustain and enhance existing networking and mentorship initiatives besides supporting Inuit women's entrepreneurship, a group which has historically been under represented in the Canadian economy.

By undertaking a comprehensive consultation and engagement process in collaboration with Inuit business women and relevant partners, such as regional economic development organizations, the project will establish the needs and priorities of Inuit women for their economic advancement and participation in the labour force, while building the partnerships vital to encourage economic development. This project will promote a greater understanding of the unique priorities, needs and challenges faced by Inuit women across Canada to reduce the barriers to their participation in the economy.

The long-term objectives of this project are:

- To establish the needs and priorities for Inuit women's economic development;
- To help close services gaps; and,
- To strengthen the capacity of Inuit businesswomen within the entrepreneurship ecosystem.

Scope

This is an open call to individuals, firms, or organizations to develop visual resources on the topics of budgeting and operational costs, to be delivered to communities in Inuit Nunangat and across Canada. The resources must cover the basics on how to manage budgets and operational costs for new, small and/or aspiring business owners.

The forms that visuals produced will take (e.g., tutorial videos) will be determined in consultation with the project team. The resources must also complement existing business development workshop materials which focus on creating a business plan, financial management, resource mapping and sales and marketing. The visual resources must be developed and designed in a way that is culturally relevant, accessible, while incorporating current business trends, and educational materials for current, and aspiring Inuit businesswomen.

It is important for applicants to show an understanding of Inuit culture and the socio-economic realities in Inuit Nunangat. Applicants must also have experience working with Inuit communities, actors and organizations, possess effective communication skills and method and have the proven expertise to produce culturally relevant work.

Specifications

- Development of content and scripts summarizing the basics of budgeting and operational costs for new and/or small businesses.
- Development of visual resources (video tutorials, animated graphics) designed with the contents on basic budgeting and operational costs related to business development.
- Resources must outline the core components of each topic (budgeting and operational costs) in a manner that is accessible and culturally relevant to aspiring and established Inuit business owners.

In addition, the successful applicants will be required to:

- take part in project meetings and teleconferences as appropriate.
- Provide progress updates as required; and,

- submit all final project documents upon completion.

Timeline

The duration of the contract will be from:

- Bids accepted until January 8, 2021.
- Contract begins January 15, 2021.
- Delivery of resources, March 26, 2021.
- Contract ends March 31, 2021.
